A NOTE FROM TIM

Let's make it a night to remember

I've been a party DJ for 50 years, and the best nights feel planned from the very first invitation.

A milestone birthday, a ruby anniversary or a dino disco for a five-year-old all need the same things: invitations, a sign at the door, table numbers and a few fun extras.

So I made a collection that does the fiddly parts for you. You type the name, the age and the date once, and every piece fills itself in.

I'm at every booking myself, and I made this the same way: personally, with care.

Tim

YOUR AGE, YOUR WAY

20 number styles

The age is the star of a birthday, so it gets proper party numbers.

Each design picks a number style to match, and you can swap it for any of these 20. For an anniversary, the wording changes too: 40 years becomes a “Ruby Wedding Anniversary”. For any other party, just leave the age blank.

Every style has all ten digits, so any age works: 1, 18, 21, 40, 100.

AT THE DOOR AND AROUND THE ROOM

Party signs that people notice

The party sign greets your guests with the name and the age.

Print the party sign at A4 at home, or at A3, A2 or A1 at a print shop for an easel. Then 16 more signs point the way to the bar, the cake and the dance floor.

The bar menu, dance floor, guest book and running order. Ask a print shop for A1 foam board and the signs stand on any easel.

LESS TYPING

Your guest list does the work

Paste your guest list once, and the names go where they should.

The table plan sorts your guests into tables, a named place card for every guest, and thank-you cards named for each guest if you like.

Private by design: your guest list stays on your own device. Nothing you type is saved on the Mobile Disco Network website.

- Copy a list from a spreadsheet, WhatsApp or your phone notes, one name per line
- Big party? The table plan splits over several signs
- Change a name and every piece updates

FOR THE LITTLE ONES

Six kids' party themes

Dinosaurs, space, unicorns and more, with chunky cartoon and balloon numbers.

Dino Disco

Space Explorers

Unicorn Rainbow

Wild West

Farmyard Fun

Woodland Fairy

Each theme has the same 41 pieces, including a kids' table sign, party bingo and I-spy. Type the child's name and age once, and the invitations, party sign and table numbers all match.

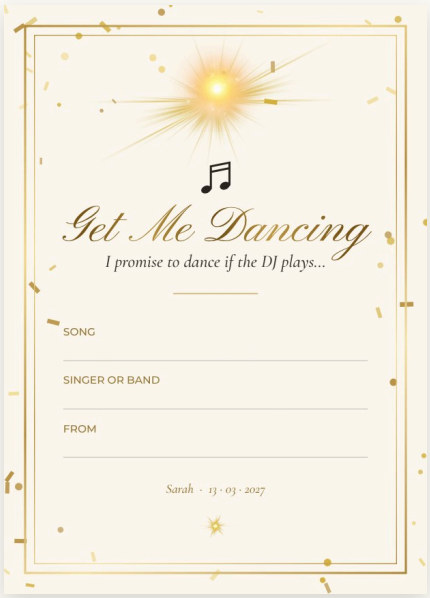

FUN ON THE NIGHT

Party games and extras

Little things that get people talking, laughing and dancing.

Party bingo

Every card is different, so there's a winner every round. Guests mark off moments as they happen, like the cake being cut.

Party I-spy

A list of moments for guests to spot and tick off.

Song request cards

Guests write the song that gets them dancing and hand it to the DJ on the night.

And more

Drinks tokens, favour tags, wishes and memory cards, bunting, a cake topper and photo booth props.
